Understanding Dental Insurance

Having dental insurance is an important way to make sure that you and your family get dental services you need in a timely fashion to support good oral health and prevent pain and infection. When choosing a dental plan, it's important to assess your coverage needs based on your current dental health and the services you may require. If you or a family member anticipate needing more than just preventive care, look for a plan that offers comprehensive coverage for both basic and major services. It's important to consider the total cost of the plan beyond just the monthly premium. Taking into account the deductible, copays, coinsurance, the out-of-pocket maximum (for kids) and the annual maximum (for adults) will give a clearer picture on your potential expenses. Additionally, check whether your dentist is within the plan's network as that may help you save on out-of-pocket costs.

Lower premium plans are less likely to cover costly procedures and more likely to have larger co-pays. Visit FAIR Health to see examples of costs in your area.

Definitions of Dental Procedures

Fluoride Treatments: A fluoride treatment involves the application of a high concentration of fluoride to the patient's teeth to improve their health and reduce the risk of cavities.

Sealants: A sealant is a plastic resin placed in the grooves of molars in order to protect them and prevent bacteria from attacking the enamel.

Space Maintainers: Space maintainers are devices used to preserve the space where a missing tooth used to be, preventing the tooth movement so that the appropriate permanent tooth can grow in properly.

Periodontal surgery: Periodontal surgery includes dental procedures that aim to restore the look and function of teeth, gums, and bone that have been damaged due to severe gum disease. These procedures are different from non-surgery procedures like deep cleaning and require more invasive procedures to restore oral health.

Orthodontia deals with irregularities and abnormalities of the teeth and jaw. Medically Necessary Orthodontia, as required by the ACA, includes services for patients with specific syndromes, conditions, or genetic disorders that require treatment. Elective Orthodontia refers to procedures that address cosmetic or corrective issues with the teeth, such as restorations or treatments used to fix dental irregularities.

Elective vs. non-elective procedures: Non-elective dental procedures are deemed to be orthodontic emergencies, such as treatment to address significant oral pain, infection, or limited function due to severe dental issues. Elective procedures on the other hand typically refer to cosmetic or corrective procedures that are not deemed medically necessary by the provider.

MAXIMUM AMOUNTS In addition to your monthly premium, the maximum out-of-pocket amount (for those under 19) is the most you could have to pay in deductibles, copayments, and coinsurance during the year. The annual benefit maximum amount (for 19 and over) is the most your plan will pay per year. Once you reach this limit, you are responsible for 100% of your dental costs until the new plan year begins. CO-PAYS AND COINSURANCE Co-pays and coinsurance are typically required for these procedures. The percentage indicated is the amount you pay after you have paid the deductible, if there is one. Plans indicating a procedure is "Not covered" means a patient would be responsible for the cost. Typical costs can be reviewed by searching at FAIR Health . The WHITE area is not subject to the deductible. It is the dollar amount or percentage you pay per visit or healthcare service, regardless of whether you have met your deductible. The SHADED area is subject to the deductible. You pay the full cost of a visit or healthcare service until you reach your deductible amount. After that, you pay only the dollar amount or percentage shown.	FILLINGS	25%	25%	25%	25%
